Mark joined Kingston Smith as a graduate trainee in 1996 and became a partner in our City office in 2008.

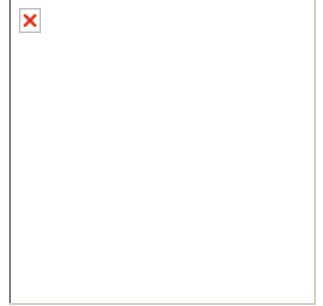

As a general practice partner Mark provides tax and general business advice in addition to audit and accountancy services. He is an active member of both the firm's Technology and Professional Firms sector groups and also has specialist knowledge and experience in the healthcare sector.

Mark's clients range in size from small partnerships to large groups with overseas operations. In addition to his owner-managed clients he acts for companies listed on AIM and PLUS markets and is familiar with International Financial Reporting Standards and the different requirements of these businesses.

As well as his client responsibilities Mark looks after the firm's audit software and oversees staff training in this area. He also sits on Kingston Smith's Information Systems Committee.
