A mathematics degree course at Cardiff University naturally led Bob Surman to a career in chartered accountancy. Training with a medium sized practice in London that subsequently became part of Grant Thornton, Bob enjoyed a period in West Africa before joining Kingston Smith.

Bob's client base includes a wide range of size of clients and industry specifications. Based in the Romford office Bob specialises in delivering the broad range of Kingston Smith services to small and medium sized clients within an assortment of industries with a particular interest in technology and manufacturing.
