Amanda Merron qualified in 1987 and joined Kingston Smith W1 in 1991 when the specialist West End office was established.

Mandy works with creative communications and consulting businesses such as marketing services companies and professional firms. As well as audit and tax work she advises clients on a range of commercial and technical issues, such as developing business plans, share succession planning and planning to sell businesses.

Mandy is treasurer of the Direct Marketing Association, a member of Women in Film and Television and a liveryman in the Worshipful Company of Marketors. She is editor of our annual publication "The Financial Performance of Marketing Services Companies" and regularly speaks at, or chairs, industry events. She acts as scrutineer for Design Week's survey of the top 100 UK design companies and runs training modules for the Design Business Association (DBA). She also oversees the DBA's confidential salary and charge out rate survey.
