

Accounting and Audit services

How Kingston Smith's automotive team can help you with your accounting and audit needs.

Getting the right advice

In these troubled times for the automotive sector, getting the right advice when you need it from advisors who understand your business often makes the difference between success and failure.

How we can help you

At Kingston Smith we offer a full range of auditing and accounting services to our clients including:

- Bookkeeping and preparation of management accounts
- Preparation of VAT returns
- Preparation of year end financial statements
- Payroll services
- Audit of year end financial statements
- Assistance with the compilation of financial forecasts, including cash flows

These services are provided by management accountants and auditors who understand the issues being faced by the automotive sector. Our management accounts ensure that accurate, timely information is available to you which can be used as a basis for informed decisions.

We also ensure that our clients are aware of current accounting issues arising from both UK and International Financial Reporting Standards. Where issues are likely to have a particular impact in a year we discuss these with you. In the current year this would include the values of used vehicles and the value of any properties held.
